The purpose of the TriState Infrastructure Summit is to develop a priority agenda for transportation and infrastructure needs in the Ohio River Valley integral to downstream petrochemical industry and related economic growth.

Current and pending opportunities in our region are impacting many stakeholders – from the construction and manufacturing industries to economic development professionals, elected officials and a broad-based workforce. By creating a forum where the private sector is engaged with the public sector and the broader civic and economic development communities, the TriState Infrastructure Summit will serve to accelerate the identification and deployment of critical regional projects, including those that span political boundaries.

Summit proceedings will be published and widely disseminated as a near-term agenda for action. Opportunities for on-going networking among attendees will follow the summit.
